PixelGun 3D can. Palliative care in end-of-life care: having not what to offer? The aim of this study was to discover the care experiences of hospitalized patients and their relatives in terms of end-of-life care. The case study method was used to investigate five patients and their relatives, all of whom were in the hospital and under palliative care. Data were collected through interviews, observations and field notes during the period October

2002-June 2003. The results from analysis show that the five patients' relatives experienced a lack of palliative care in that care was insufficient, timing was inappropriate, and non-specific and unclear information was given. They also experienced a lack of information and support from health care professionals, and a lack of opportunities to share and develop their knowledge about palliative care. The findings suggest that care quality is poor when there is a lack of palliative care. The experience of a lack of palliative care influences the relatives' perception of hospital care and the need for palliative care and this knowledge may be helpful in improving care.

Q: How do I iterate over a dictionary of dictionaries? I have a dictionary with a list of dictionaries as keys, and a list of strings as the values. I'd like to go through the list of keys and print the list of values. My code looks like
